Choosing a Facility

Once the decision is made nursing facility care is necessary, the search for the right facility is the next step. The nursing facilities of today are much different than the nursing facilities of ten or twenty years ago. The facilities of today strive to be like a community where residents can feel comfortable, find familiar faces and have the opportunity to make friends, just like they would in their own home.

Although you will want to identify the medical services that are available, you will also want to determine how a facility will meet the emotional and social needs of your loved one. Facilities that allow residents choices foster individuality and improve quality of life. There is life after a nursing home admission, and finding the right facility to meet your loved one's needs will be the key to making the transition easier.

It may be helpful to use the following checklist for areas of concern:

- ___ Services and amenities meet the needs of your loved one
